ARTS AND LITERACY INTEGRATION PRE-CONFERENCE

Sealaska Heritage Institute (SHI), in partnership with Juneau School District's Artful Teaching program, is offering a professional development opportunity for K-6 educators leading up to SHI's annual Culturally Responsive Education Conference. Participants will engage in a variety of arts integration workshops and spend time collaborating and planning for the upcoming school year. K-6 educators from Southeast Alaska communities outside of Juneau are eligible to apply.

Educators who fulfill the conference requirements will receive payment. Support for airfare and lodging may be available for selected educators.

The Voices on the Land program is supported by the Alaska Native Education (ANE) program grant PR #S356A240010 of the U.S. Department of Education, as part of an award totaling $2.5 million. The contents of this event do not necessarily represent the policy of ANE, DOE, or the U.S. Government and should not be assumed this program represents official views.
